

READING in GEOGRAPHY

YETI

The Yeti is supposedly a large ape-like creature. The mythical creature is also known the Abominable _____. The creature is part of the local mythology in the Himalayan regions of India, _____ and China (Tibet). The local indigenous population refer to the creature as “Meh-teh”.

Stories abound regarding the Yeti. There have been numerous reported sightings of the Yeti including one where two Yetis were playing on the intended path of mountain _____; the climbers were prevented from passing. Another report in 1970 noted there was 20 _____ of howling during the night and this was attributed to the Yeti. Numerous reports of footprints are recorded and they have been painstakingly measured. There have also been reports of _____ hair and Yeti faeces. Hillary and Tenzing (1st people to climb Mt _____) reported seeing footprints of the Yeti but later in their careers expressed more cynical opinions regarding the existence of the ____.

Language and translation may be important contributors to legendary _____ of the Yeti. One local language uses the term “Meti” (Bear). That term may have been misconstrued as Yeti. The legend of the Yeti however, _____ on. With the exotic cultures and wondrous landscapes of the _____ it is likely the legend will continue for many centuries.

BIGFOOT

Bigfoot is the North _____ version of the Yeti. It is supposedly ape like and inhabits the forests of the continent’s North West. Big Foot is also _____ by the name Sasquatch. The term Sasquatch derives from a native-American term for “wild man”. Whatever the reality of Bigfoot’s existence, the stories are a real part of folklore.

Bigfoot has been captured on _____. That film, taken by Patterson and Grimlin in 1967, is quite famous. Whether the film is a hoax is the real question. The film-makers went to their graves maintaining that it was not a _____ but their characters have been called into question. Photographs of Bigfoot footprints are abundant enough. In 1924 a group of miners claimed they were _____ by a group of Bigfoots (Bigfeet) who threw stones at their cabin and tried to break in. It was later said that pranksters were involved in this incident. A Canadian _____ and her children claimed to have been approached at home by a Sasquatch of 2-3m in _____. They made their escape, presumably out the back of the _____.

The similarities of Bigfoot to a _____ (grizzly bear) are obvious. The folklore however should continue as the forests of north west North America are often remote and vast. That region provides many fascinating _____ stories.

CLOZE

YETI
YETI
EVEREST
MINUTES
STORIES
HIKERS LIVES
NEPAL
HIMALAYAS
SNOWMAN

MISSING WORDS

CLOZE

WOMAN
ATTACKED
HEIGHT
HOAX
FILM
HOUSE
KNOWN
BEAR
AMERICAN
ADVENTURE

MISSING WORDS

Reference: wikipedia.org/wiki/Yeti+Bigfoot